Mode of dealing with alteration of substance

7. (1) The powers conferred upon the Commissioner by section 6 do not imply any power for the Commissioner to make any alteration or amendment in the matter or substance of any Ordinance.

(2) If the Commissioner considers that it is desirable that in the preparation of revised editions there should be amendments or additions other than those authorised under the powers conferred by section 6, the Commissioner must draft one or more Bills setting forth such proposed amendments or additions, and submit the draft to the Attorney General who will consider them for submission to the legislature.

(3) If a Bill as referred to in subsection (2) is enacted in sufficient time, the Commissioner must give effect in the revised edition to the amendments or additions so authorised.

Omission of certain laws

8. (1) The Commissioner must omit from the complete revised edition the Ordinances and subsidiary legislation specified in the Schedules to this Ordinance.

(2) At any time before a complete revised edition is approved under this Ordinance, the Attorney General may by Order add to or vary the First and Second Schedule.

If in any law or in any document of whatever kind, any reference is made to any law amended or otherwise affected by the operation of this Ordinance, the reference is to be construed, where necessary and practicable, as a reference to the latest revised version of the law published under this Ordinance.

Bringing revised edition into force

(3) The Attorney General may, by notice published in the Gazette, declare that a revised edition specified in the notice comes into force on a date appointed by the notice.

(4) Subject to subsection (5), from the date specified in a notice issued under subsection (3), the revised edition is deemed to be, in all courts of justice and for all purposes whatsoever, without any question, the sole authentic edition in respect of the law contained in it and in force on the relevant revision date.

(5) This section does not affect the operation of any Ordinance or subsidiary legislation which, before the date appointed for the revised edition to come into operation, is enacted repealing, altering or amending any Ordinance or subsidiary legislation which has already been included in the revised edition.

Rectification of errors

11. If any clerical, printing or other error is found in any matter included in a revised edition, the Attorney General may by Order published in the Gazette rectify the error in a manner consistent with the powers of revision conferred upon the Commissioner by this Ordinance.
