

Book of the Week

Unstraight by John Thurlow

David Sterling lives the suburban life. He has been married to Carrie for fourteen years and they have two daughters. To the onlooker, life behind the Sterling's picket fence looks perfect, and in many ways it is—save for the fact that David carries a burdensome secret one that he has guarded well since he was a teenager.

David's life is unravelling and he cannot carry the burden any longer. To make peace with himself and his world, it is time to tell the truth, a gamble that may lose him all that is precious. But he needs to be released from the shame, the guilt, and the fear.

In the pain and hurt of the aftermath, this deeply personal journey is driven by David's desire to hold on to those he loves, while at the same time revealing who he really is to them and the world.
